AVC, Online and Live Virtual Events

Do you have an event that has been recently cancelled due to COVID?

Online live virtual events offer great opportunities for creativity, innovation and can also allow remote contributions from your audience, but they do need professional planning and production skills, even more than your real world events. AVC will make the entire process simple for you!

radius
IT Services company Fortuity

Radius Technologies is one of Ireland's leading providers of IT business solutions to the SME sector. The company promotes a holistic approach to business technology delivering bespoke IT solutions which include: Cloud Computing, IT Managed Services, Cyber Security and GDPR Compliance, and Cloud Telephony.

Craigswell based company Fortuity, provides tailored IT infrastructure, maintenance and communications services to SMEs in Cork and the South West region.

Jerry Buckley, MD of Radius Technologies: "The acquisition comes as part of Radius' national expansion plan. In Fortuity, we found a team with an excellent reputation in the marketplace who share our passion for excellent customer service and information security."

Jerry continued: "Radius provides a combined team of over 50 staff, delivering engineering, helpdesk and support functions. This, combined with our accreditation and quality standards (Microsoft Gold Partner, ISO 27001 in Information Security and ISO 9001 in Quality), has created an extremely positive reaction from clients and the wider market."

Kevin O'Regan, MD of Fortuity expressed his enthusiasm for the enlarged organisation: "Being part of the Radius team means our clients will receive a greater depth and bandwidth of support, excellent accreditation driven processes and access to a broad range of new private cloud and telecom solutions. In any organisation our clients are our first priority, and we are delighted to see that Radius' values and culture are completely aligned with Fortuity. Our clients are already seeing the benefits of our expanded team, product and service offering."

"Being part of the Radius team means our clients will receive a greater depth and bandwidth of support." Kevin O'Regan, Sales Manager, Radius Technologies.
