Welcome

Dear Chamber member,

Over the past 10 years Cork Chamber has built a strong and influential Partner Programme, made up of a range of companies spanning across industries from pharmaceuticals to professional services, manufacturing to agri-food, and from energy to technology.

Our Partners convene as a Thought Leaders Council throughout the year to discuss and agree the challenges and opportunities faced by our economy. Economic recovery and resilience, international and regional connectivity, housing and apartment delivery, climate and sustainability, mixed mobility infrastructure, and renewable energy, among others persist as Chamber priorities. In combination with our Board, our Economic Trends surveys and the many discussions we enjoy with our members we can be confident that our advocacy is well informed and supported by our ever active and engaged membership.

Over the past 24 months, our members have experienced turmoil, challenge and anxiety, yet all the while, the significant multinational and indigenous enterprises celebrated in this publication maintained a stable base for our economy. They provided the underlying fiscal continuity on which so much depended.

As we now cautiously yet emphatically reopen our economy, we have every opportunity, as a whole business community, to come together and deliver on the exciting promise that our strong and growing city region provides.

Our members are our motivation. We champion Cork as a globally recognised place for business, innovation and quality of life. Working together we can empower a successful and inclusive economy and a thriving City region.
